determined to succeed.

Meet a man who truly believes in the ability to overcome obstacles and defy the odds. Charlie Rhodes has been a patient of Circleville Physical Therapy for the past few years, coming to us after major, devastating surgery and a long hospital stay. We are blessed to have been a partner on his recovery journey and have watched him each step along the way. Read more of his story at www.circlevillephysicaltherapy.com.

Real Life. Real People.

Charlie shares: “I came to Circleville Physical Therapy in a wheelchair and just released out of a long term hospital facility. I was looking for a physical therapist partner that would offer intense therapy of all types and that would be willing to take me on as a project. If I would have gone to any other physical therapists, my guess is they would have been done with me by now, focused on getting me out of the wheelchair but not dealing with all my other challenges. Thanks to this great team, my wheelchair is gone and my next 50 years will be healthier than the first 50. I now have a new and different purpose to life.”

If you're like Charlie, searching for physical therapists that are above the rest and that treat you as they would their own family — with compassion and respect and offering the personalized attention and state-of-the-art treatment you deserve, call (740) 474-9318 to schedule a FREE initial consultation.
